Mountain Fiesta

We have five distinctive areas at Mountain Fiestas, Brenda's Barn, J.A.L. Lookout, Celebration Gardens & Casa Viva Friezeland Creek ~Camp & Picnic area.

Brenda's Barn

Brenda's beautiful rustic elegant party barn can formally seat up to 70. Perimeter space can be tented to accommodate up to 125 diners.

space for a 16X16' dance floor

Roomy modern bathrooms and dressing rooms with showers are accessible next to the front of the barn.

J.A.L. Lookout

J.A.L., Just About Love Lookout, is named for Brenda's father, Jack A. Laughery. Situated a short distance from the barn, is a beautiful celebration area nestled behind the 1940's farm house. This outdoor space can be tented for 100 people. For weddings or programs, our rustic theater style seating for 70 is built into the slope. Multi levels allow for eating, outdoor cooking, congregating, enjoying the fire pit & dancing. A boulder "alter" frames the outdoor presentation/wedding "sanctuary" with a mountain view and pasture. Picturesque!

Celebration Gardens

Alive with color, texture and lovingly designed, Celebration Gardens is filled with native perennials, winding from the production garden near the potting shed by the barn, past the farm house to Casa Viva. The most intimate of gatherings can be nestled within the gardens. What a great place for a wandering cocktail party or reception and of course amazing picture taking opportunities.

Casa Viva

Shaded by old Hemlocks, Casa Viva's castle like doors opens the space to a covered front porch with wicker seating, indoor and outdoor dining space overlooking Friezeland Creek Camp & Picnic area with creek side group fire pit. Such a family friendly setting! We can seat 50 for dinner and the perimeter can be tented for additional seating. So many ways to use this sweet little house.....rehearsal dinner, bridesmaid or groomsmen hangout/giant dressing room, reception, reunion, private dinner party, overnight accommodation, workshop & retreats. Casa Viva means House Alive.....alive with activity!

“Where Is Spring Creek?”

Linger long enough to experience “Mountain Time” in little known Spring Creek community, a slice of heaven not to be overlooked. Madison County, “The Jewel of the Blue Ridge,” shines with the Township 8⁵ little gems of Spring Creek, Bluff, Meadow Fork, Joe, Keenerville, Little Creek, Max Patch, Poplar Gap, Fox Run, Ball City, Betsy’s Gap, Friezeland, Trust & Luck, local areas of reference, from an era gone by, but names still honored today, each adding to the luster of the county jewel.

Farmers, some on land that has been dearly held by their family for generations, artists, craftsmen and laborers working hard for an honest day of work, rugged young families living off the land, Conservatives – Liberals, all live here with a common interest to breathe life, here in this amazing slice of Madison County. This is not just a romantic idea . . . it’s a conscious choice, and a way of life that is cherished, relished and admired. Come get a taste. We think you will be drawn to the creek again and again.

From the top of Doggett Mountain, NW of Asheville & The Biltmore Estate and over Betsy’s Gap NE of Waynesville, to just south of Max Patch Bald and Hot Springs, Spring Creek is just over the Tennessee line, near Newport. Already a favorite ride for cyclists and motorcycle enthusiasts, fishermen and hunters, and destined to be a favorite weekend retreat destination for rest, reflection and a reconnect. Leave the city, the familiar, the routine. . . .we are just over the mountain, not far from home, remote, yet accessible, tucked and rooted with rich history.

Spring Creek Lives On “Mountain Time”

. . . .we love it and think you will too

Where Is Spring Creek?

Spring Creek Has So Much To Offer

From time honored local festivals and benefits, restful cabin getaways, spiritual retreats, vibrant church activities, country stores & cafes, old timey mountain music at Spring Creek Community Center - once the county school, event venues for parties & celebrations, workshops, catering and personal chef services, berry picking, campgrounds, CSA and greenhouse operations, hard cider tastings, community use bakery and cob oven, family farm tour opportunities, artist studios, locally produced crafts and products, hiking, fishing and hunting, and unique farm to table dining experiences. Spring Creek is here for you to experience and enjoy.

Madison County

In Madison County, Spring Creek's sister communities shine together with the gems of Hot Springs, Marshall, Mars Hill and beyond to create the luster that this county boasts as

"The Jewel of the Blue Ridge"

Each community has its' unique contributions, worthy of attention from peaceful mountain setting seekers. Madison County communities help each other to thrive, shine and prosper . . . neighbor helping neighbor, locals extending a welcoming hand to a newcomer, a visitor, a new friend. These traditions are still alive in these mountains.

Already well known to outdoor enthusiasts, these historic towns have much to offer visitors. . . . shops, farmers' market, mineral spa, camping, vibrant Arts Council activities and events, Appalachian Trail and other hiking trails, museum, live theatre, horseback riding, llama trekking, music festivals/venues, auctions, fireworks, water adventures on the French Broad and an abundance of accommodations from the rustic to luxurious B&B, fine dining and casual eateries.
